  A reel was conceptualized and scripted to demonstrate how users can leverage the Createoo app effectively. The shoot was assigned to Vishal in Manali to capture engaging visuals, structured around the simple steps: visit, scan, pay, and earn.

  Two meetings focused on refining the social media strategy, emphasizing brand voice and humor without repetitive brand or discount mentions. New content formats like polls and quizzes were introduced, and KPIs were set to track performance. Plans were made to increase video content and influencer collaborations for wider reach.

Riwayat, a Kashmir-based handcrafted kurti label, aims for organic growth with a focus on uniqueness and slow fashion. The brand expects support in boosting Instagram and WhatsApp presence, producing reels (product and GRWM), building a website, curating catalog and packaging ideas, and designing business cards and taglines. The branding team suggested behind-the-scenes content, on-campus visibility, and selective influencer marketing. Both parties agreed on maintaining an aesthetic, non-aggressive communication tone, with an initial focus on organic engagement and a soft digital launch.

Feedback Received

Throughout the course of multiple meetings and ongoing campaign executions between April and May 2025, both internal and external feedback played a crucial role in refining Createoo's marketing and branding strategy. This feedback was instrumental in identifying strengths, addressing challenges, and improving user engagement.

Internal Feedbacks

- Creative Tone and Messaging:
  Team members consistently emphasized the importance of maintaining a balance between humor and professionalism in all communications. It was noted that while humor creates relatability and increases engagement, the messaging must remain clear, concise, and aligned with the brand's core values.

- Push Notification Strategy:
  Feedback from the creative and social media teams highlighted that overusing the brand name and the word "discount" in push notifications negatively impacted user perception. As a result, it was agreed that notifications should be subtle yet compelling, focusing on rewards and experiences rather than overt promotional language.

- Content Formats:
  Video content, especially reels and short clips, was favored internally due to their higher engagement rates on platforms like Instagram. Team members suggested increasing video-based storytelling and interactive formats such as polls and quizzes to boost user interaction.

- Workflow and Collaboration:
  Feedback indicated that clearer timelines and faster approval processes were needed to maintain agility in content creation and publishing. Teams recommended setting fixed review cycles and better cross-department coordination to streamline campaign rollouts.

Feedback Received

External Feedback

- User Engagement and App Awareness:
  Initial responses from app users and partner food joints indicated good interest in the loyalty points system, but some users expressed the need for clearer guidance on how to maximize their benefits. This reinforced the decision to produce detailed, step-by-step reels and tutorials.

- Campaign Reception:
  External feedback from social media comments and direct messages revealed positive reactions to the light, humorous tone used in creatives. However, some users suggested including more diverse food options and partner locations in upcoming campaigns to widen appeal.

- Partnership Opportunities:
  Potential collaborators like Riwayat provided encouraging feedback on joint promotional ideas, showing interest in co-branded content that highlights mutual loyalty benefits. This opened avenues for innovative partnership campaigns.

Challenges Faced (1)

During the period from April to May 2025, the branding and social media teams encountered several challenges while working on Creatoo's campaigns and content strategy. These challenges tested the team's adaptability and prompted innovative solutions to keep the brand's messaging effective and consistent.

Maintaining Brand Voice Balance

One of the foremost challenges was striking the right balance between humor and professionalism. Creatoo's unique brand personality aims to be light-hearted and relatable without compromising on clarity or trustworthiness. Early drafts of push notifications and social media posts sometimes leaned too heavily on humor, which risked diluting the brand's professional image. The team worked closely to refine the tone, ensuring content was witty yet clear and respectful.

Avoiding Overuse of Brand Mentions

Feedback highlighted that frequent repetition of the brand name and the word "discount" in push notifications was negatively affecting user perception and reducing the perceived value of the offers. The challenge was to craft engaging, succinct notifications that conveyed excitement and reward without sounding overly promotional or salesy. This required creative brainstorming and multiple iterations to get right.

Content Approval Delays

Due to the involvement of multiple stakeholders—including branding, social media, creative, and partner teams—content approval sometimes faced delays. This affected the timely release of campaigns, especially those tied to trending topics or time-sensitive events. The challenge was to improve workflow coordination and set clearer deadlines, which the teams addressed by instituting fixed review cycles and better communication channels.

Challenges Faced(2)

Educating Users on App Usage

Another significant challenge was ensuring that users clearly understood how to use the Createoo app to maximize their rewards. Some users found the process of scanning QR codes and redeeming points confusing initially, leading to lower-than-expected engagement. This prompted the production of simple, visually engaging reels and tutorials that break down the steps—visit, scan, pay, and earn—making the app more accessible and user-friendly.

Keeping Content Fresh and Trending

Given the fast-paced nature of social media, consistently producing fresh, relevant, and trending content was challenging. The team needed to stay updated on cultural trends, festivals, and popular memes while ensuring the content stayed aligned with brand values. This required agile planning, continuous monitoring of social media trends, and quick content turnarounds.

Expanding Collaboration Efforts

Building partnerships, such as the one with Riwayat, required aligning objectives and creative visions across different teams and brands. Negotiating timelines, content co-creation, and campaign coordination presented logistical and strategic challenges. The teams had to develop clear communication protocols and shared goals to streamline collaboration and ensure mutually beneficial outcomes.

Suggestions for Future (1)

Prioritize Reels Creation

- Current Situation: Reels account for 73% of total views and 70.3% of interactions, making them the most engaging content type.
- Why It Matters: Instagram's algorithm heavily favors Reels to promote content discovery and boost organic reach.
- Actions:
  - Develop a consistent Reels content calendar (e.g., 3-5 Reels per week) focused on trends, behind-the-scenes, tutorials, product highlights, or customer stories.
  - Keep Reels short, engaging, and visually appealing to maximize watch time.
  - Include strong hooks in the first few seconds to capture attention.
  - Use relevant trending music and hashtags to increase discoverability.
  - Encourage engagement by adding questions, polls, or calls to action (e.g., "Save this post", "Tag a friend").
  - Repurpose high-performing Reels content into stories and posts to increase cross-format exposure.

Convert Non-Followers into Followers

- Current Situation: 56.1% of views and nearly 50% of interactions come from non-followers.
- Why It Matters: Expanding your follower base is essential for building a loyal community and sustained organic growth.
- Actions:
  - Add clear, compelling Calls-to-Action (CTAs) in captions, stories, and Reels encouraging users to follow your account for more content.
  - Use Instagram features like pinned comments or story highlights to reinforce your brand value proposition.

Suggestions for Future (2)

- Run follower growth campaigns with incentives such as giveaways or exclusive content for new followers.
- Engage with non-followers by replying to comments and DMs promptly to build personal connections.
- Collaborate with influencers or accounts with complementary audiences to tap into new follower pools.

Boost Engagement Rate

- Current Situation: Engagement rate is approximately 2.3%, slightly below the ideal target of 3%+.
- Why It Matters: Higher engagement signals to Instagram that your content is valuable, which increases organic reach.
- Actions:
  - Increase interactive content such as polls, quizzes, “this or that” questions in stories, and open-ended questions in captions.
  - Host live sessions, Q&A, or “Ask Me Anything” events to foster real-time interaction.
  - Respond to every comment and direct message to encourage two-way communication.
  - Analyze the timing of posts to publish when your audience is most active.

Leverage Cross-Platform Promotion

- Share Instagram content across other platforms like Facebook, LinkedIn, or WhatsApp Business to drive traffic back to your Instagram profile.
- Embed Instagram posts or Reels on your website or newsletters to increase visibility.
- Collaborate with complementary brands for joint campaigns or takeovers to reach wider audiences.

Suggestions for Future (3)

Optimize Content Strategy Based on Analytics

- Current Situation: Insights reveal strong performance from Reels, moderate engagement with posts, and low traction from stories.
- Why It Matters: Data-driven content strategies maximize resource efficiency and audience impact.
- Actions:
  - Review monthly performance metrics to identify top-performing content and replicate their elements.
  - Experiment with posting frequencies across formats to find the sweet spot for audience engagement.
  - A/B test different creative approaches, caption styles, and hashtags to refine content appeal.
  - Integrate audience feedback and trending topics to keep content relevant.
  - Monitor follower demographics and interests to tailor content accordingly.
